

BRAVE MISS WORLD

IX THINGS YOU CAN DO

I Invite your college or university's President, Title IX Coordinator, or Dean of Students to your Brave Miss World Screening and BraveSpeak discussion afterwards.

P Participate in the "I Am Brave" campaign by sharing your experiences as a survivor or ally on Facebook and Twitter. Use the hashtag #IAmBrave to engage with others worldwide who are speaking out against sexual violence.

A Ask for help if you feel you need it. Talk to a friend. Educate yourself about campus sexual violence. Check out KnowYourIX.org and EndRapeOnCampus.org to learn more.

L Look up your school's sexual assault policy and resources; then share the information with your friends. If you can't find any, talk to your administration.

H Host or attend a violence prevention training, Sexual Assault Response 101 training, or Title IX training on your campus. Share the #IAmBrave campaign with those in attendance.

H Have open, honest conversations with your partner about consent and what everyone involved wants to do in sexual situations.

M Make a college sexual assault statistic your Facebook status for an entire day. Use FB or another social media platform to share the www.BraveMissWorld.com website with at least 9 of your friends or family members.

W When you hear a "rape joke," use that opportunity to educate; have a conversation instead of laughing along.

S Share your personal story on our BraveSpeak blog, at www.BraveMissWorld.com. Interested in starting a BraveSpeak blog at your specific campus? Email us and we will show you how.

Interested in becoming more involved? Email screenings@bravemissworld.com with subject line "#IAmBrave."

Why IX things? Visit www.KnowYourIX.org to learn more about YOUR rights under Title IX.